Bernhard Schober, Austrian Aero Club Delegate to CIMP

Death of Hans Gutmann

The FAI and the Austrian Aero Club deeply regrets to announce the sad death of Hans Gutmann, the President of the FAI General Aviation Commission, who died along with two other people in a fatal crash onboard his C 172 near Piacenza, Italy, on Saturday 18 June 2011.

Elected President of the FAI GAC Commission in 2010, Hans Gutmann had been active in the General Aviation and Amateur-build world for many years as a Delegate, Alternate Delegate, Subcommittee Chairman and Technical Adviser, where his knowledge was highly regarded.

Born in 1948 in Stockerau, Austria, Hans Gutmann was well known for the famous tour around the World that he achieved in 1996 on board a Glasair IIS-RG that he built himself.

1. Medical Regulations, Part Med for the EASA – LPL

The standards for the LPL was a matter for discussion during the meeting of the Austrian Society for Aviation Medicine. We express significant concern about the flight safety consequences of the proposed aeromedical requirements of the LPL. The issuance of the certificates by general practitioners may increase the flight safety risk. GP will have no chance to gain sufficient experience in dealing with aeromedical problems .
