His group was growing year by year and in 1978 the activity of the group became an official part of the programs offered by the youth house. Meanwhile he stopped flying because all of his energy was needed to deal with the group. In 1987 he founded from his group the today worldwide known Cavalloni Modelling Club. In 1997 the number of club members reached the 200. About 50 members are highly ranked according the Hungarian ranking system and about 10 members are competing in the Hungarian national teams.
