

PROCEDURE FOR SELECTING THE LOCATION OF A FUTURE FAI COMMISSION MEETING

1. If no official bids have been received for a meeting to be held anywhere else, the meeting must be held in Lausanne, near the FAI Head Office.
2. If only one bid has been received for a place other than Lausanne, delegates will be invited to vote ( if required, by secret ballot ) on whether or not to accept that bid. An absolute majority (more than 50% of votes in the room) is required for the bid to be accepted. If the absolute majority is not achieved, the meeting must be held in Lausanne.
3. If two or more bids have been received for a place other than Lausanne, the following procedure shall be followed :
  - a. Select by absolute majority and by secret ballot, the delegates' preferred option amongst those available ( except for Lausanne). Note : more than one round of voting may be necessary if there are 3 or more candidates, and one does not achieve an absolute majority in the first round.
  - b. The preferred, non-Lausanne, option having been selected, delegates shall be asked to vote ( if required by secret ballot ) on whether or not to accept that bid. An absolute majority is required for the bid to be accepted. If the absolute majority is not achieved, the meeting must be held in Lausanne.
