To: IGC GNSS web site under "List of Approvals"
IGC news list:  igc-news@fai.org
Newsgroup:  rec.aviation.soaring

1 January 2020

GNSS FLIGHT RECORDER : Peschges VP-8

IGC-approval was withdrawn from this type of Flight Recorder on the above date.

A number of factors were involved and some are listed below.

The original IGC-approval for these recorders was issued on 31 May 1996. The basic design is therefore very old, and the facilities of this Recorder are limited by current standards.

There is no facility to make electronic flight declarations (current IGC requirement), electronic security is well below the current IGC requirement, and the manufacturer is no longer active.

Ian W Strachan,
Chairman, IGC GNSS Flight Recorder Approval Committee (GFAC)
ian@ukiws.demon.co.uk